OUR MISSION

The Learning Sciences Marzano Center for Teacher and Leader Evaluation promotes excellence in public education by providing and developing next-generation teacher and leader evaluation tools and training. Built on a foundation of expert research into best practices under the direction of national researcher and author Dr. Robert Marzano, the Marzano Center identifies, develops, and disseminates cutting-edge resources in educational best practices. Our goal is to support teachers to be highly effective, life-long learners, and in doing so, to significantly impact student growth and achievement over time.

Introduction

This report is a description of the Marzano Center Non-Classroom Instructional Support Personnel Model adapted by Dr. Beverly Carbaugh to align with the Marzano teacher, school leader, and district leader evaluation models. While it can be used independently, it was developed to be used in conjunction with those comprehensive instructional models based on Marzano's The Art and Science of Teaching (Marzano, 2007; Marzano, Frontier, & Livingston, 2011). The model is an evaluation framework for certificated instructors whose primary job is not day-to-day instruction of students. Instructional support personnel typically provide appropriate support to students, schools, and districts in a non-classroom setting; positions may include both instructional support personnel such as educational specialists, media specialists, and instructional coaches, and student services personnel such as art therapists, school psychologists, and career specialists. The categories of support personnel who would be evaluated using this model is a district level decision.

The Non-Classroom Instructional Support Personnel Model is based on a review of research literature identifying specific instructional strategies correlated with student achievement (for a summary of this research see, Marzano, Toth, Schooling, "Examining the Role of Teacher Evaluation in Student Achievement," 2012). The instructional support model is rooted in the common language of the Marzano Teacher Evaluation Model, but has been adapted to capture the unique responsibilities of personnel who support instruction at the school and district levels. It is also closely aligned to the Marzano School Leader Evaluation Model and the Marzano District Leader Evaluation Model. Like those models, the Non-Classroom Instructional Support Personnel Evaluation Model has been designed for growth as well as measurement, with focused goals and specific behaviors correlated with increased student achievement.

The Model

The model is organized into four domains containing 33 elements representing categories of strategies and behaviors used by instructional support personnel to ensure the success of students, schools, and districts. Domain 1, "Instructional Support Strategies and Behaviors" includes elements that represent routine segments, establishing goals and content, and facilitating engagement. As with the Marzano Teacher Evaluation Model, each element is accompanied by evidences and a development scale for targeted feedback to drive growth. Domain 2, "Planning and Preparing for Implementation of Goals and Objectives" is unique for non-classroom instructional support personnel, and the elements and evidences in this domain have been adapted to be relevant and focused (for example, planning ways to scaffold content; use of traditional resources and technology; preparing for the needs of ELL and special needs students). Domain 3, "Reflecting on Teaching" supports the reflective and self-assessment practices of the non-classroom teacher, and includes development of a professional growth plan. And finally Domain 4, "Collegiality and Professionalism" includes elements to support the context in which the other domains function: contributing to a positive school environment.

Domain 1: Instructional Support Strategies and Behaviors

Actions and behaviors within this domain help ensure that instructional support personnel have a clear focus on student achievement that is guided by relevant and timely data. Sixteen specific categories of instructional support actions and behaviors constitute this domain:

1. Providing Clear Goals and Scales (Rubrics)
2. Tracking Progress
3. Celebrating Success
4. Identifying Critical Information
5. Organizing Participants to Interact with New Knowledge
6. Previewing New Content
7. Elaborating on New Information
8. Recording and Representing Knowledge
9. Reflecting on Learning
10. Providing Opportunities for Participants to Talk about Themselves
11. Demonstrating “Withitness”
12. Acknowledging Adherence to Rules and Procedures
13. Understanding Participants’ Interests and Background
14. Using Verbal and Nonverbal Behaviors that Indicate Affection for Participants
15. Displaying Objectivity and Control
16. Demonstrating Value and Respect for Low Expectancy Participants

Domain 2: Planning and Preparing

Actions and behaviors within this domain help ensure that instructional support personnel plan and prepare for implementation of goals and scaffolding of content or activities. Seven specific categories of instructional support actions and behaviors constitute this domain:

17. Effective Goal Setting and Scaffolding of Content or Activities
18. Attention to Established Standards or Procedures
19. Use of Available Traditional Resources
20. Use of Available Technology
21. Needs of English Language Learners
22. Needs of Participants Receiving Special Education
23. Needs of Participants Who Lack Support for Schooling

Domain 3: Reflecting on Teaching

Actions and behaviors within this domain help ensure that instructional support personnel are able to evaluate their own performance and develop and implement a plan for professional growth. Four specific categories of instructional support actions and behaviors constitute this domain:

24. Identifying Areas of Pedagogical Strength and Weakness
25. Evaluating the Effectiveness of Specific Pedagogical Strategies and Behaviors
26. Developing a Written Growth and Development Plan
27. Monitoring Progress Relative to the Professional Growth and Development Plan

Domain 4: Collegiality and Professionalism

Actions and behaviors within this domain help ensure that instructional support personnel are able to promote both a positive environment and the positive exchange of ideas, and that personnel develop positive relationships with staff, parents, and the community. Six specific categories of instructional support actions and behaviors constitute this domain:

28. Promoting Positive Interactions with Colleagues
29. Promoting Positive Interactions with Participants, Parents and the Community
30. Seeking Mentorship for Areas of Need or Interest
31. Mentoring Other Colleagues and Sharing Ideas and Strategies
32. Adhering to School and District Rules and Procedures
33. Participating in School and District Initiatives

Scales and Evidences

For each of the 33 elements within the four domains, scales have been developed along with example evidences of success. To illustrate, consider element 1 (“The instructional support member provides clearly stated goals based on area of responsibility that align with school and/or district goals and has a scale that describes levels of performance”). Accompanying the scale for each of the 24 elements are evidences of successful performance. It is important to note that these are sample evidences only in that other evidences specific to a given school or district might also depict successful performance. Evidences for the first element in Domain 1 are depicted in Figure 1.

Scale
	Not Using	Beginning	Developing	Applying	Innovating
Providing clear goals and scales (rubrics)	Strategy was called for but not exhibited.	Uses strategy incorrectly or with parts missing.	Provides clearly stated goals accompanied by a scale that describes levels of performance.	Provides clearly stated goals accompanied by a scale that describes levels of performance and monitors understanding of goal and levels of performance.	Adapts and creates new strategies for unique needs and situations.

To understand the logic of this scale and all others in the system, it is best to begin with “Applying,” which has a score value of 3. A score of “Applying” can be considered the level of performance that indicates proficiency regarding the element. In this case, the instructional support member not only provides clearly stated goals based on area of responsibility that align with school and/or district goals and has a scale that describes levels of performance, but also monitors student understanding of the goal and level of performance. In short, the instructional support member ensures students understand the goals and levels of performance.

Above this level is “Innovating,” which has a score value of 4. Here, in addition to score 3 actions and behaviors, the instructional support member adapts and creates new strategies for unique needs and situations.

“Developing” is a step below the target of “Applying.” It has a score value of 2 and indicates that the instructional support member provides clearly stated goals accompanied by a scale that describes levels of performance, but does not monitor to ensure that students understand the goals. This level of performance is usually associated with a need for improvement regarding the element. Below this level is “Beginning,” which has a score value of 1. Here the instructional support member attempts to provide clearly stated goals accompanied by a scale that describes levels of performance, but does not complete the task or does so partially. This level of performance is usually considered unsatisfactory. The lowest level on the scale is “Not Using,” which has a score value of 0. Here the instructional support member does not attempt to provide clearly stated goals accompanied by a scale that describes levels of performance. This level is also considered unsatisfactory.

Conclusion

The system described here is offered as a comprehensive approach to instructional support member evaluation that is coordinated and compatible with the Marzano Teacher Evaluation Model, the Marzano School Leader Evaluation Model, and the Marzano District Leader Evaluation Model. Learning Sciences Marzano Center can assist districts in further development and implementation of the instructional support model in collaboration with school and district leaders.

It is important to note that the model presented in this report employs scales and parts of scales developed by Robert J. Marzano and Learning Sciences International. 2. Tracking Progress

The instructional support member facilitates tracking of progress toward goals.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member monitors progress toward his/her goals throughout the school year using a scale
- _ Instructional support member is responsive to participants, colleagues, and administrators regarding feedback about his/her progress
- _ Instructional support member actively consults with colleagues and administrators to find an optimal approach to ensure progress
- _ Instructional support member consults with colleagues and administrators to ensure he/she is making progress toward the goals
- _ Instructional support member keeps updated records (e.g., databases, data notebook, etc.) that validate tracking progress toward his/her goals

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When asked, participants, colleagues, and administrators can describe how the instructional support member is progressing toward his/her goals

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

School is used generically to represent participants, teachers, staff, or other colleagues in the instructional support member's area of responsibility.

3. Celebrating Success

The instructional support member celebrates personal, participant, school, and/or district success relative to progress toward his/her goals.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member acknowledges and celebrates personal progress toward his/her goals
- _ Instructional support member uses a variety of methods to celebrate school and/or district success
- _ Instructional support member acknowledges and celebrates individual and group successes
- _ Instructional support member shows pride in his/her work and reports wanting to continue to make progress toward meeting his/her goals

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ Participants and/or colleagues show signs of pride regarding recognition of their accomplishments by the instructional support member

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

School is used generically to represent participants, teachers, staff, or other colleagues in the instructional support member's area of responsibility.

4. Identifying Critical Information

The instructional support member identifies critical information in a lesson or activity to which participants should pay particular attention.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member begins the lesson or activity by explaining why upcoming content is important
- _ Instructional support member identifies content or information critical to his/her area of responsibility
- _ Instructional support member cues the importance of upcoming information in some indirect fashion:
 - Tone of voice
 - Body position
 - Level of excitement
 - Marker technique

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When asked, participants can describe the level of importance of the information addressed in the lesson or activity
- _ When asked, participants can explain why it is important to pay attention to the content
- _ Participants visibly pay attention to the critical information

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

School is used generically to represent participants, teachers, staff, or other colleagues in the instructional support member's area of responsibility.

5. Organizing Participants to Interact with New Knowledge

The instructional support member organizes participants into small groups to facilitate the processing of information.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member establishes routines for participant grouping and interaction within groups
- _ Instructional support member establishes roles and procedures for group activities:
 - Respect opinions of others
 - Add their perspectives to discussions
 - Ask and answer questions

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ Participants move to groups in an orderly fashion and know their roles in the group
- _ Participants appear to understand expectations about appropriate behavior in groups:
 - Respect opinions of others
 - Add their perspectives to discussions
 - Ask and answer questions

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

6. Previewing New Content

The instructional support member engages participants in activities that help link what they already know to the new content/activity about to be addressed and facilitates these linkages.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member uses preview question before reading
- _ Instructional support member uses K-W-L strategy or variation of it
- _ Instructional support member asks or reminds participants what they already know about the topic
- _ Instructional support member provides an advanced organizer:
 - Outline
 - Graphic organizer
- _ Instructional support member has participants brainstorm
- _ Instructional support member uses an anticipation guide
- _ Instructional support member uses a motivational hook/launching activity:
 - Anecdotes
 - Short selection from video

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When asked, participants can explain linkages with prior knowledge
- _ When asked, participants make predictions about upcoming content
- _ When asked, participants can provide a purpose for what they are about to learn
- _ Participants actively engage in previewing activities

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

School is used generically to represent participants, teachers, staff, or other colleagues in the instructional support member's area of responsibility.

7. Elaborating on New Information

The instructional support member asks questions or engages participants in activities that require elaborative inferences that go beyond what was explicitly taught.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member asks explicit questions that require participants to make elaborative inferences about the content or activity
- _ Instructional support member asks participants to explain and defend their inferences
- _ Instructional support member presents situations or problems that require inferences

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When asked, participants volunteer answers to inferential questions
- _ When asked, participants provide explanations and “proofs” for inferences

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

School is used generically to represent participants, teachers, staff, or other colleagues in the instructional support member’s area of responsibility.

8. Recording and Representing Knowledge

The instructional support member engages participants in activities that help record their understanding of new content in linguistic ways and/or represent the content in nonlinguistic ways.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member asks participants to summarize the information they have learned
- _ Instructional support member asks participants to generate notes that identify critical information in the content
- _ Instructional support member asks participants to create nonlinguistic representations for new content:
 - Graphic organizers
 - Pictures
 - Pictographs
 - Flow charts
- _ Instructional support member asks participants to create mnemonics that organize the content

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ Participants' summaries and notes include critical content
- _ Participants' nonlinguistic representations include critical content
- _ When asked, participants can explain the main points of the lesson or activity

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

School is used generically to represent participants, teachers, staff, or other colleagues in the instructional support member's area of responsibility.

9. Reflecting on Learning

The instructional support member engages participants in activities that help them reflect on their learning.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member asks participants to state or record what they are clear about and what they are confused about
- _ Instructional support member asks participants to state or record how hard they tried
- _ Instructional support member asks participants to state or record what they might have done to enhance their learning

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When asked, participants can explain what they are clear about and what they are confused about
- _ When asked, participants can describe how hard they tried
- _ When asked, participants can explain what they could have done to enhance their learning

10. Providing Opportunities for Participants to Talk about Themselves

The instructional support member provides participants with opportunities to relate what is being addressed in a lesson or activity to their personal interests.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member is aware of participants' interests and makes connections between these interests and class content and educational goals
- _ Instructional support member structures activities and discussions that ask participants to make connections between schooling and their personal interests

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When participants are explaining how content relates to their personal interests, the instructional support member appears encouraging and interested
- _ When asked, participants can make linkages between the lesson or activity and their personal interests

11. Demonstrating “Withitness”

The instructional support member uses behaviors associated with “withitness” to maintain and support adherence to rules, policies, and procedures.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member is accessible to parents and the school community
- _ Instructional support member establishes healthy professional relationships with participants, colleagues, administrators, and parents
- _ Instructional support member recognizes potential sources of disruption to classrooms and the entire school and deals with them immediately
- _ Instructional support member proactively addresses inflammatory situations

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ Participants recognize that the instructional support member is aware of their behavior as well as the climate of the school
- _ When asked, participants, parents, or colleagues describe the instructional support member as “aware of what is going on,” or participants describe the instructional support member as one who “has eyes on the back of his/her head”

Participant is a generic term to include anyone the instructional support member is supporting, such as: PreK-12 participants, adult participants, faculty, staff, colleagues, parents, or community members.

12. Acknowledging Adherence to Rules and Procedures

The instructional support member consistently and fairly acknowledges adherence to rules and procedures.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- Instructional support member provides nonverbal signals that a rule or procedure has been followed:
 - Smile
 - Nod of head
 - High five
- Instructional support member gives verbal cues that a rule or procedure has been followed:
 - Thanks participants for following a rule or procedure
 - Describes participant behaviors that adhere to rules or procedures
- Instructional support member uses tangible recognition when a rule or procedure has been followed:
 - Certificate of merit
 - Token economies

Sample Participant Evidence

- Participants appear appreciative of the instructional support member acknowledging their positive behavior
- When asked, participants describe the instructional support member as appreciative of their good behavior
- When asked, participants report the instructional support member fairly and consistently acknowledges adherence to rules and procedures

13. Understanding Participants' Interests and Backgrounds

The instructional support member uses participants' interests and backgrounds to produce a climate of acceptance and community.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member has side discussions with participants and colleagues about events in their lives
- _ Instructional support member has discussions with participants and colleagues about topics in which they are interested
- _ Instructional support member builds participants' interests into their interactions

Sample Participant Evidence

- _ When asked, participants and colleagues describe the instructional support member as someone who knows them and/or is interested in them

14. Using Verbal and Nonverbal Behaviors that Indicate Affection for Participants

When appropriate, the instructional support member uses verbal and nonverbal behavior that indicates caring for participants or colleagues.

Sample Instructional Support Member Evidence

- _ Instructional support member compliments participants and colleagues regarding academic and personal accomplishments
- _ Instructional support member engages in informal conversations with participants or colleagues that are not related to academics
- _ Instructional support member uses humor with participants and colleagues when appropriate
- _ Instructional support member smiles, nods, etc. at participants and colleagues when appropriate

- _ When asked, participants and/or colleagues describe the instructional support member as someone who cares for them
- _ Participants respond to instructional support member's verbal and nonverbal interactions
